THE COMMONWEALTH INSTITUTE
Advancing Women in Leadership

About The Commonwealth Institute

The Commonwealth Institute (TCI) is a network of successful business and professional women in our community. We provide leadership development, high-level networking and mentoring through our content-rich events and programming. The Commonwealth Institute was founded in 1997 in Boston, Massachusetts. A group of successful women entrepreneurs got together with the simple idea of making it easier for other women than it was for themselves. As the heads of their own business, the opportunity for personal development hadn’t come from inside their own companies, nor from the typical networking organizations locally. So these women created their own group, a “commonwealth”, where women leaders could come together, linked with the common objective and interest of sharing experiences and supporting each others’ ongoing success and development. In 2004, The Commonwealth Institute started its South Florida chapter with the same foundational core objective.

TCI provides a wide range of educational programs, lively discussions, personal and professional enrichment, and high-level networking and business opportunities. The Commonwealth Institute helps women strengthen leadership skills, improve their business operations and find innovative solutions through an invaluable peer support network. Women who join, sponsor or donate to TCI are part of an exceptional group of women leaders who share wisdom and support one another to succeed.

Unleash the potential of women leaders to drive successful businesses and inspire those around them.

<tr>
<td>Executive Forum</td>
<td>The Executive Forums are small groups of typically no more than 8 women that act as your own personal board of directors. The Executive Forums meet monthly and offer a safe, confidential, non-competitive environment to share challenges and develop business as well as individual growth strategies. The forums are comprised of women CEO’s, senior level executives, entrepreneurs and non-profit executives. This is very much a peer-to-peer mentoring group that offers support, advice and shared connections.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategies for Success</td>
<td>This four-day, interactive development program focuses on emerging women business and professional leaders to grow and succeed. The curriculum includes nationally recognized assessments including a EQ360 report and feedback as well as coursework on personal branding, negotiating for success, interactive panel discussions and individual development plans. Every participant is paired with a senior woman executive as a personal mentor. Strategies graduates have the opportunity to join our Emerging Leaders Forum, modeled after our Executive Forum.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversations With Inspiring Women: TCI’s Leadership Luncheon</td>
<td>Every fall, this event draws more than 300 powerful and inspiring women leaders from throughout South Florida. Past speakers have included Donna E. Shalala, Rosabeth Moss Kanter, Madeleine Albright, Susan Taylor, Maureen Kempston Darkes and other accomplished leaders.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida’s Top 50 — Luncheon Honoring Women-Led Businesses</td>
<td>Since 2006, TCI South Florida has tracked the performance, perceptions and projections of Florida’s women-led businesses. Kaufman Rossin partners with us to survey these businesses. Survey results are released in the spring at TCI’s annual awards ceremony and luncheon honoring the Top 50 Women-Led Businesses as well as the top 10 non-profit women led organizations.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCI Talks and Business Books Gatherings</td>
<td>Alternating between Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties, these monthly events offer engaging discussions for TCI members. At TCI Talks, women leaders share their insights and experiences on a variety of topics including negotiating tactics, marketing, personal branding, diversity, philanthropy, work-life balance, and more. Business Books &amp; Coffee and Business Books &amp; Wine are monthly book clubs that connect TCI members and feature lively discussion about thought-provoking business books on new trends, best practices and growth strategies.</td>
